The mystery is intriguing and twisty, and the setting - a chilly Autumn festival - was perfect. Plus, a little paranormal and Poe! I enjoyed the Gothic atmosphere the elements created. I highly recommend this series, and look forward to more.

Disclosure: I received a copy of this book from the publisher in exchange for an honest review.

Cascade Springs is preparing for their annual Food and Wine festival and Violet is planning a Poe-try Reading at Charming. Violet has enlisted the help of the Red Inkers, a local writerâ€™s critique group that meets at the bookstore, to help with the reading. Sadie, who owns a vintage clothing store plans to provide period clothes for everyone. As the reading are about to begin, the last member, Anastasia arrives and Violet offers her apartment to change into her costume. A few minutes later she hears a loud crash and finds Anastasia at the bottom of the staircase, dead.

When the tests come back it has been determined that she died from a nicotine overdose and the nicotine had come from a bottle that Sadie used for her e-cigarettes. Sadie naturally becomes the prime suspect as the dress has never been out of her shop.

Violet soon learns that Anastasia has been writing romance novels under pseudonym and wonders if this might have been a reason for someone to end her life.

Most all of the enjoyable folks from Cascade Springs are back once again to help Violet with the investigation. Charming Bookâ€™s mascots, Faulkner, a crow, and Emerson, a cat, prove to be heroes in this book. I was completely surprised by who the murderer was.

Definitely, will be watching for the next book in this enjoyable series.

The October Food and Wine Festival is the perfect time to showcase the bookstore with readings from the works of Edgar Allan Poe. The Red Inkers, a local writing group that meets in the bookstore agree to do the readings and wear period costumes. The day is going well until Violet finds the body of one of the group's members at the bottom of the back stairs in the store. When the death is determined to actually be a murder and Violet's friend is the primary suspect, she vows to discover the real villain. With the help of her tuxedo cat, Emerson and the store's mascot, a crow named Faulkner, Violet tracks down every clue. I found these characters to be entertaining and very realistic. The bookstore and magical tree make the perfect backdrop for an usual method of murder and a most unlikely murderer! This is a series that will keep you turning the pages and waiting impatiently for the next book!

We return to Cascade Springs and Charming Books in this 2nd installment of the Magical Bookstore Mysteries, where the perfect book finds you and you find Violet Waverly, her grandma, Daisy, and a tuxedo cat named Emerson and what I picture to be a huge crow named Faulkner. Amanda Flower has created some wonderful characters here. Yes, I am including this unusual bookstore in my list as characters because it truly has a life all its own. Still I would classify this mystery as paranormal light. There are no ghosts or witches but the setting itself is magical along with maybe a familiar or two. From the tree growing inside it to the books on the shelves it is a very interesting place. Violet is still trying to understand what it means to be the caretaker of the store with her grandmother by her side.

The author has also crafted an entertaining mystery set in this magical place. One with many turns led by clues found in the shop but that take some critical thinking on Violet's part to decipher. Emerson uses his special talents to help her make a crucial discovery. I liked that she was sharing her findings with the handsome police chief even though that upsets her old boyfriend, the mayor. Romantic tension is always good.

Ms. Flower has given readers a very imaginative story with some enchanting and colorful characters. I really hope this series is allowed to continue because there is so much more here for the author to build on. I am excited to visit Cascade Springs again.

Book number two in this series does not disappoint!

This cozy includes a magical bookstore where the books choose you; and a resident crow that talks. A murder of a not well liked citizen along with her secret, lead to a whodunit that had me guessing right up to the end. I cannot wait for book three!
