I can't stop smiling!!!!!! This was such a gorgeous, SWOOOOOOOONY book! The hero was a famous hockey player who fell head over heels in love with a normal girl. She was raising three young kids alone and he swept into her life and fell for all of them!! This was a perfectly balanced romance novel from start to finish. It had the SWOON, it brought the HEAT, it dished out the ANGST, and tied everything together with gorgeous FEELS. I absolutely LOOOOOOVED IT!!! Kind of a Cinderella romance with a sporty twist!!!

Max and Julia couldn't have been more different. Max was a famous and successful professional hockey player whose life was in the spotlight -- fame and recognition were an unavoidable, if unwelcome, part of his daily life. Meanwhile Jules was struggling to make ends meet juggling jobs to help support her late sister's three young children who were now under her sole care. When they met, she had no idea who he was and for that and so many other reasons, he couldn't help but be drawn to her.

He was determined to date her, but the kids were her top priority and she couldn't imagine how dating could fit into her already exhausting life. However, he wasn't daunted and made every effort to find a way for them to be together. And I have to say that watching this big famous goalie fall so completely in love for this woman and her three little charges was heart-warming on a whole other level.

Max was pure swoon material. He was adorably sweet and caring -- definitely the kind of guy who will steal your heart in a minute. And I loved that he wasn't afraid to admit his feelings for her and he wasn't scared by the intensity of how he felt for her either.

Jules was a wonderful heroine. Responsible, practical, dedicated, and just with a really good head on her shoulders. She devoted herself to the kids with everything she had, and handled the stress of suddenly having her life thrust into the spotlight with understandable levels of wariness and maturity.

Speaking of that, OH MY GOD. The thing I loved MOST about this book was how freaking MATURE this couple was. Seriously. Between the ugly side of fame, gossip columns, and just their vast differences, Max and Jules had a lot of pretty big issues to work through but I can't tell you enough how MATURE they were. There were sooooo many times when their issues could easily have spiraled out into stupidity but EACH TIME they were faced with challenges, they approached them with a level-headed stability that was SO REFRESHING in a romance novel.

Not to mention that once they got serious, things got veryyyyy steamy!!

I feel like I can't even say this enough times -- but they faced the challenged that came their way TOGETHER with logic, understanding, and they just really acted responsibly. It was so wonderful reading about characters that I could respect like this. And they really did have a lot to overcome. They came from such different worlds -- she was poor, he was rich, she was a guardian, he was single and unattached, she was unknown to the world, he was famous, and with that fame came the ugliness of gossip that tested their newfound relationship. But I can honestly say that I absolutely loved the way they handled their challenges.

You can read this book as a complete standalone. It is part of the Sawyer's Cold Fury series is one of those series with the sweetest heroes and the best heroines. I love this hockey team! They truly are a family and all the characters are great. I was excited to get the goalie of Cold Fury, Max Fournier's book. Let me tell you a little something about Max! Max really is a one-in-a-million type of guy! Max is single and not really looking for anyone, but then he meets Jules. Their story really is a Cinderella type tale!

Max is single and not really looking for anyone, but then he meets Jules. Their story really is a Cinderella type tale!

Jules works full time as a nurses assistant (I can tell you from experience, this is NOT an easy job. It's one of the most underpaid and under appreciated jobs you can have) and works part time at a convent store (where she meets Max). She also has 3 kids that are now her responsibility since her sister has passed. It's been a bit of a change for her.

When Jules meets Max she has no clue who he is. No idea that he is a famous hockey player. Either way, she has no time to date and no time for a man. She's barely juggling her life right now. But Max doesn't care about that. He can tell Jules is something special and he'll do anything to make her his.

Max is a truly fantastic hero. I loved how persistent he was with getting Jules and helping her, even though she was proud and didn't want help. I also loved how the kids in her life didn't scare him. In fact, he embraced them and treated them as his own. Jules was a tough heroine. She worked so hard and did so much. I always admire a strong and hardworking heroine! I love this couple together. They just fit and had fantastic chemistry.

Before you blow your top about the rating I'm giving this book, remember that I'm not the best reviewer of the romancy type books. I'm more like one of those dirty old women on Goodreads.

And normally I do LOVE this author. But this one just fell flat for me. It was too dang sweet. Now my husband is actually a very sweet man. Let's face it. The man is a saint for putting up with me on a daily basis.

When I head off into the land of porny goodness I do tend to like the rougher variety of books.

Nobody should really expect more of me when you look at the other stuff I read. I want some rough, crazy alpha male stuff. It makes the panties lose their elastic around this joint.

(But in a more granny panty way)

This book was just pure sweetness from the beginning. You have Max, super good looking hockey player, he has zillions of dollars. He stops into a convenience store because he is being about as bad as his character can work up too by eating some junk food. Upon entering the store he is blessed with the sight of Jules. She is getting hit on by some rednecks. Max steps in to ward off the badness.

Then we find out that Jules is a saint. She has taken her sister's three children in after their mom passed away. She works two jobs and is just the perfect Cinderella.

Max Fournier is the league's most eligible bachelor and the starting goalie for the Cold Fury hockey team. Max is a romantic at heart, and meaningless sex holds no appeal for him. When he lays eyes on the beautiful Julianne Bradley, Max knows she is something special.

Julianne Bradley is working two jobs to take care of her niece and nephews. She doesn't have time for sleep, let alone a 6'5 famous goalie. But Max isn't about to give up and soon he holds Jule's heart right in his goalie mit. But Max is a celebrity, and with that comes a spotlight that brings more chaos to Jule's already overflowing life.

Sports romances are a little iffy for me because they usually involve a ton of OW drama or (as in this case) puck bunnies. Luckily this book was delightfully free of such shenanigans.

Max was a wonderful non-manwhore goalie (and lord knows I have a thing for goalies cough PETER MRÅZEK cough) He was sweet and all in from the minute he sees Jules. Jules, on the other hand, got on my nerves a little with her attitude, especially near the end. I found her actions were a bit contradictory to the way she was portrayed for most of the book. Since this was a pretty easy and very low angst type of relationship, it felt like it was just added in to create a little drama before the HEA ending.

That aside, I did really enjoy this one. (I LOVED the little Canadian connection. LOVE me some tourtiere.) This was a breath of fresh air in the piles of manwhore sports heroes we have in the romance genre. If you are looking for a low angst, romantic, easy peasy read then this would be right up your alley.
