Working in housekeeping at Dupont Tower as well as at Lucky's nightclub while studying at the same time to pursue a business degree is such a tough thing to do. For her, her dreams and ambitions are more important than relationships. Until she met the super hot but grumpy ice hockey player Jake Birch. She wasn't supposed to fall in love with him, but their connection was too strong to deny so it wasn't easy for her to resist him.

This is the second book of Brenda Rothert that i have read and sure, it won't be the last....

I enjoyed and this story very much, but to be totally honest with you, there was something that it was bothering me in the story.... Some things were so abrupt and that left me confused at the end...

I needed more explanation and more time for the solutions, i think!!!!

Overall, it was a nice story with great heroes and intriguing plot...

And, hell, there was a cocky, hot ho

Cocky NHL player meets broken, humble woman. What's new under the sun, right? No, wrong. So, so wrong.

Sure, the blurb may sound cliché, but there's nothing unoriginal or boring about this book.

Let's proceed with order:

NHL star Jake Birchâ€™s womanizing ways have caught up him and now heâ€™s being strong-armed into dating the ownerâ€™s daughter or face the bench and it couldnâ€™t have happened at a more inconvenient time. After too many years of women throwing themselves at him because of his money and star status heâ€™s finally met the one who makes him feel alive, sees through his façade and wonâ€™t take his nonsense. Can he be enough for her? Can he convince her to take a chance on them?

Miranda wants nothing to do with men and has one goal and one goal only which has nothing to do with hockey or a sexy bad boy. Sheâ€™s working hard to put herself through college. But while cleaning Jakeâ€™s hotel room she tramples upon his extreme idiosyncrasies and after his complaints roll right off her he calls management to request her a his own housekeeper and itâ€™s getting hard to ignore him when the delicious man keeps showing up at her place of work, offering to help her with school and showing her how charming he really can be. Can she have a Cinderella happy ending with him?

Iâ€™ve only read one other book by Brenda Rothert but it left a good lasting impression so when I saw this Cinderella + hockey combo it was a no brainer and it certainly delivered. The writing is sound with an effortless flow, great characterization and most of all I loved the sizzling attraction and fun back and forth between Miranda and Jake that had me smiling from the start.

Even though the banter between Jake and Miranda made me smile in the beginning, it was mostly because of her. Miranda is self-assured, strong, smart and sassy. Those are a lot of â€œesâ€• words! She didnâ€™t want his money, wasnâ€™t impressed by his fame and didnâ€™t put up with his nonsense. She was really easy to like.

Jake on the other hand didnâ€™t just have his manwhore reputation to contend with, he was obsessive bordering on â€œyou need help buddy!â€• But once we start to get to know him and the things that drive him, we get to see a completely charming and romantic man with a great heart hidden behind tall and thick walls. I felt his pain and fell for him just like Miranda.

I very much enjoyed Jakeâ€™s relentless pursuit of Miranda. It was fun, flirty, sexy and touching and the hockey backdrop gives their story a layer of excitement. As they start to open up and confide in each other, their relationship builds both physically and emotionally. And in Jakeâ€™s case, he's able to face his fears and past with Miranda's loving support.

Hooked by Brenda Rothert is a standalone contemporary hockey romance told from both points of view with a happy ending. It's heart melting sweet, swoony, sexy and endearing and left me with a wide smile.

I think I'm going to have to get into hockey. I never followed it before but if this book is any indication the men alone are worth checking out!!!

I enjoyed this book. Not too much drama but the right amount of chemistry, which is much appreciated.

The plot is simple and expected....poor girl going through college, rich sports play and lots of really hot sex....not to shabby.

Jake loves hockey, it's his life and willing to do anything to keep himself in the game. Too bad for him i

Jake loves hockey, it's his life and willing to do anything to keep himself in the game. Too bad for him it involves dating the owner's daughter. He doesn't really care for this but what can he do? Of course he finds someone he really wants to get to know during this time, Miranda. He doesn't want to lose Miranda but he knows she's not up for sharing.

Miranda is a beautiful, confident woman who knows where she is going and how to get there. She never expected to meet Jake but when she does, she can't deny their connection.

Their relationship progresses in a natural way.
